• CIAO •

Whoever said "less is more" definitely wasn't Italian.
I hope you enjoy my huge selection of Prosecco and Franciacorta from Northern Italy, with most wines - including my Vino D'Acampo range available by the glass.

I thought you would also like to try some classic Italian cocktails I like to drink when I'm back home, as well as artisan beers and the finest in hand-crafted Italian gin amari and vermouth.

• PROSECCO •

Prosecco is native to the north east of Italy, produced from glera grapes in the Venetian hills around the town of Treviso. Prosecco DOC production spans the regions of Veneto & Friuli-Venezia Giulia. Prosecco Conegliano Valdobbiadene Superiore D.O.C.G. can only be made in the province of Treviso in the hills between Conegliano & Valdobbiadene but it's the juice from the grapes harvested on the famous Cartizze hill that contribute to what is widely recognised as the Grand Cru of Prosecco.

• PROSECCO ROSÉ •

Still like the Prosecco you know & love – but bubblier & packed with ripe red fruit, and the best bit – every bottle of Prosecco Rosé is 'millesimato' making it even more special than your typical Prosecco as the grape juice inside the bottle is from a single harvest!

• CLASSIC ITALIAN COCKTAILS •

The bustling Piazzas of Milano, Verona & Firenze have inspired an entire movement within cocktail culture to embrace drinks lower in alcohol & characterised by bold and bitter flavours that help to wash down the bite-size foods synonymous with the golden hours of Aperitivo. Few drinks epitomise Italian drinking culture like the Venetian Spritz – a throwback to the La Dolce Vita of the 1960s.

The Spritz 'Hugo' (pronounced Ugo) hails from Trentino-Alto Adige – bordering Austria & home to the spectacular Dolomites. Creator Roland Gruber reimagined the iconic Spritz 'Veneziano' in the small town of Naturo in Balzano. At San Zeno Wine & Cocktail Bar - Roland experimented with various flavours before settling on using elderflower to sweeten Prosecco – spritzed with soda & finished with a handful of fresh mint. Refreshingly light & floral – it is now bar called throughout Europe & beyond.

• BELLINIS •

It is impossible to go to Venezia without visiting Harry's Bar for a Bellini. The iconic venue just off the Grand Canal was where Giuseppe Cipriani, the proprietor, perfected the art of blending peaches with Prosecco. We love the Bellini as you can play around with the recipe, and although we will never tire of the original, why not try some of our seasonal variations?
