UNDERSTANDING WINE

Pét-Nat – an abbreviation of 'Pétillant Naturel' referring to sparkling wines finishing their fermentation inside the bottle – predating the 'traditional method' famously used in the Champagne region of France.

Orange wine – refers to a white wine with extended contact with grape skins during the wine making process. They are unsurprisingly orange in appearance and tannins you would taste in red wine are not uncommon.

UNDERSTANDING WINE

Organic wine – simply wine made from grapes grown using only organic farming practices – specifically painstakingly minimizing the use of pesticides, herbicides & fertilizers. Organic wines can be identified by the stylised leaf on the familiar green flag.

Natural wine – refers to unadulterated fermented grape juice with zero additives throughout the entire wine making process.

Biodynamic wine – refers to wine made employing strictly biodynamic methods. This wine making process is based around the earth as we know it being treated as a living and receptive organism.
